Course Descriptions:

EDUC 341-01A: World Language Pedagogy K-12

Instructor: Tom Andert

This course is designed to meet the needs of preservice teachers in K-12 foreign/second language education by providing an overview of child and adolescent development with corresponding implications for teaching foreign language K-12. Specific theories, methods and techniques for teaching second language and culture in K-12 setting will be examined and demonstrated with particular emphasis on national and professional standards for program content, teach performance, and student proficiency assessment. Students will participate in age appropriate, communicative-oriented materials development, and peer teaching scenarios. A field experience is required. Prerequisites include acceptance into the Education Department and demonstrated proficiency in the target language.

THEA 204-01A: The Theatrical Experience

Instructor: Mark Hennigs

The Theatrical Experience will introduce the general student to the art of theater. The student will become acquainted with live theater as a meaningful and enjoyable event. Students will learn by lecture, group discussions and attendance at live theatrical performances.
